Dear Hunter Mill Friends,

With the completion of the Fairfax County budget process, and the nearly completion for the Commonwealth, transportation issues have again taken center stage. While there are ultimate concerns about how the county and the state deal with roads and there is growing concern over the Phase II of "Rail to Dulles," there are two major projects that move closer to completion with each passing day: the 495 Express Lanes and Phase I of the Metro through Tysons into Reston.

Here in the Hunter Mill District, we can see the progress made on the Silver Line rail to Dulles. You can see where the trains will pass as the tracks loop their way through Tysons Corner and make their way back on to the toll road median. The rail stations along the new line are starting to take shape all the way out to Reston, nearly 75% complete. Though not directly in Hunter Mill District, the Express Lanes project by TransUrban is 90% complete, expected to open for use by the end of 2012. Both projects will make it easier for drivers to come in and out of Hunter Mill District. As residents along the new rail line, we will have more options than before. Our new rail option will be available to go west to Reston, and ultimately to Dulles Airport, or east to Tysons, Arlington and DC.

To service the rail stations will be new and expanded bus service that will connect neighborhoods to the stations. These new options can change the way we think about getting around. Imagine a shopping excursion to Tysons Corner without your car. Today, you get in your car, negotiate your way through traffic, and search for a parking space in the mall's garage. Imagine jumping on a bus that connects you to your local rail station for a quick ride to the Tysons Corner station.

With the continuing growth in Fairfax County, the option of not having to get around by your personal automobile is becoming more attractive to many.

Book Collection Fills the Shelves at Lake Anne Elementary

After the passing of his wife Bobbi, Bill Vest wondered how to get the best use of her collection of children's books. Bobbi had been a reading specialist for FCPS and collected over 1,000 books. After calling Supervisor Hudgins' office, arrangements were made with school officials for her staff to deliver over 50 boxes of books to Lake Anne Elementary. The books will be shared with school's library, teachers, and some into the hands of the students.

Thanks to the Department of Neighborhood and Community Services for use of their minibus to transport the boxes and staffer Stacey Blackwell who helped Hunter Mill staff with the delivery.

Fairfax County Auxiliary Police Program Accepting New Applications

Have you ever wanted to be more involved in law enforcement and public safety? Are you looking for meaningful, challenging work and having a role in keeping Fairfax County safe? If so, consider applying for the Fairfax County Police Department's Auxiliary Police Officer (APO) program. An all-volunteer civilian force comprised of 108 men and women, APO's play a vital role in supplementing the sworn personnel in essential public safety operations. They perform a myriad of duties such as staffing sobriety checkpoints, protecting the integrity of crime scenes, and may be deployed to natural or man-made disasters at any time.

APO's come from a variety of backgrounds that enhances the FCPD with their unique sets of knowledge, skills and abilities. Currently, there are doctors, lawyers, accountants, engineers and reserve and retired military officers in the rich mix of APOs. A blend of retirees and employed, the APOs are individuals who like to learn and have the time to commit. Once they pass a rigorous background check, they are required to undergo trainings at the Criminal Justice Academy in Chantilly two evenings a week and a few Saturdays a month during 16-week academy slated to begin in January 2013.

The Fairfax County Police Department is now accepting applications. To learn more about the APO program or request an application, call 703-280-0576 or email AuxiliaryPolice@FairfaxCounty.gov.

Barbeque Grill Fire Season Arrives

As the grilling or barbeque season arrives, the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department wants to remind residents that grill fires cause an estimated average of 10 deaths, 100 injuries, and $37 million in property loss each year nationwide, according to the U.S. Fire Administration.

Almost half (49 percent) of grill fires on residential properties occur from 5 to 8 p.m. Thirty-two percent of all grill fires occur in the months of May, June, July, and August, and the leading category of equipment power source is "gas fuels," (79 percent). Grills, hibachis, and barbeques on residential properties continue to be a high fire risk and, on average, result in more injuries and slightly higher dollar losses when compared to all other fires. It is crucial that each person diligently practice fire safety when cooking or grilling outside. Please review the safety tips below:

Grill Safety Tips

- Grills should be placed at least 15 feet from any home, building, or combustibles to ensure adequate air circulation.
- Charcoal must be kept dry. Wet charcoal can spontaneously ignite. Spare propane bottles should be stored outside away from the home. A backyard shed is a good place.
- Keep children and pets away from the grill. Grills continue to give off heat long after cooking has stopped.
- Never place hot ashes in paper or plastic bags or containers. Only use metal containers for hot ashes.
- Use Underwriters Laboratories (UL) approved electrical starters in place of lighter fluid.
- Never use a grill on apartment or condominium balconies. This practice is one of the biggest dangers with grills. It is unsafe and against the law.

A public meeting will be held on Thursday, May 31, 2012 at Westbriar Elementary School to discuss the recommendations of the Dulles Toll Road Ramp study. The open house will start at 6 p.m., with presentation beginning at 7 p.m. The study is to identify an optimum configuration for increased ramp connections between Tysons Corner and Dulles Toll Road (DTR). The additional ramp connections will provide additional access to and from Tysons and DTR with goals of providing the best traffic flow, being cost effective, and requiring the minimum right-of-way with the least negative impacts to adjacent properties and the environment. Conceptual ramp plans will be presented and the public is invited to comment on the concepts. For more information, contact the Hunter Mill District office at 703-478-0283.
